AMERICANS IN CLASH WITH MEXICANS

BETWEEN FIFTEEN AND TWENTY U. S. SOLDIERS KILLED IN SKIRMISH

BULLETIN

TUSCON, Ariz., Aug. 27.—A telephone message from Nogales at 10:15 o'clock tonight said the Twin Cities were quiet, a truce having been agreed upon until 7 o'clock in the morning. At a conference tonight between A. J. Abosla, commanding the Nogales, Sonora, garrison and Lieutenant Colonel Herman, together with Collector of the Port Charles Hardy and prominent American and Mexican civilians. Commandante Abosla expressed regret at the outbreak and declared it was due to ill feeling between Mexican and American customs guards. He said there was no hostility among the Mexican federal soldiers toward the American forces.

BULLETIN

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 27.—Two Americans were killed, 29 wounded and more than 500 American troops were engaged for one and one-half hours on the border here late today, during a skirmish between American troops and Mexicans.

Captain J. D. Hungerford was killed in action.

Corporal Barney Dotz also was killed.

Lieutenant Colonel Frederick J. Herman was wounded in the right leg.

Lieutenant Luke Loftus was seriously wounded in the body.

Captain H. C. Caron was wounded in the arm.

Lieutenant S. Lockwood was also wounded.

Gaston Reddock, customs guard, reported killed tonight, was seriously, if not fatally wounded.

Another civilian was reported to have been wounded.

These facts were officially announced here late tonight after a survey of the town and camp had been made.

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 27. — One American officer fell fighting in the streets of Nogales late today, one civilian was killed and another officer seriously wounded and between ten and twenty American soldiers killed during the skirmish which took place along International avenue between American troops and Mexicans in Nogales, Sonora.

Approximately fifteen Americans were wounded, including Lieutenant Colonel Frederick J. Herman, who was shot thru the right leg while commanding the American troops but continued in command on crutches.

While the casualties on the Mexican side of the border were not known tonight it was estimated that 100 had been killed by fire from the American side while at least twice this number including a number of civilians were wounded. It was reported tonight that the mayor of Nogales, Sonora, was killed but this was not confirmed.

The fighting followed the alleged efforts of a Mexican official to smuggle a fellow countryman across the boundary into the United States. An American sentry attempted to stop him. Two Mexicans fired at the sentry across the street striking him in the right arm. The fire was returned by American patrols and after Mexicans had rushed from nearby buildings and started shooting across the line from behind buildings and walls, the firing became general.

Other officers wounded were: Captain Henry C. Caron, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and Lieutenant S. Lockwood, Nogales.

Mexican Consul Gerza Zartuche, stationed here, stated tonight he did not believe the losses on the Mexican side of the line would be as heavy as estimated by American officers.

Casualties on the Mexican side according to a late report, were over one hundred killed and wounded.

The American casualties are said to be three soldiers killed and twelve wounded, including Lieutenant Colonel Herman.

Bring Up Reinforcements.

Reinforcements from an infantry regiment and a negro cavalry regiment were rushed to the border and took up combat positions. It was estimated that more than 300 American soldiers and at least 50 civilians participated in the shooting. It was reported tonight that a detachment of cavalry crossed the border in pursuit of the Mexicans, but this was not confirmed.

The fighting, which started at 4:08 p. m., continued without abatement until 5:30, when it died down, except for an occasional sniping shot along the long international street. At 5:30 p. m. a white flag was displayed by the Mexicans, a parley followed, but the sniping continued until after 7 o'clock. Bullets fell in Nogales and civilians were ordered to remain indoors and without the zone of fire. Adobe houses, because their walls cannot be pierced by high power bullets, were especially popular and many families spent the night in these buildings with friends.

Like the main street of a moving picture frontier town, International avenue, where the fighting started, zig-zags its way along the international boundary line between Mexico and, the United States, and forms the main business street of towns in two republics. Concrete monuments marking the border stand at intervals like giant fingers and a barbed wire fence which was erected by the Mexican officials to prevent evasions of the customs and immigration laws, adds a militant touch to the picture.

American Sentries Patrol.

American sentries patrol the boundary night and day, while Mexican sentries, in their slate colored uniforms, patrol the opposite side of the wide business street. Customs guards and patrol squads have their stations at the American and Mexican custom houses, which face each other across the street. Nogales, Arizona, is a progressive Arizona border town, with modern houses, two and three story business building on International avenue and residence streets lined with palm and umbrella trees. Nogales, Sonora, the Mexican town, is a typical Mexican border town, with square adobe huts resembling cubes of native brown sugar. There are several large buildings on the Mexican side of the boundary and a church surrounded by a little plaza after the fashion of all Mexican towns on the Mexican border. Nogales, Sonora, has been the scene of a number of border battles. The Diaz federal troops were defeated and forced to cross the border and surrender to American troops. They were commanded by Colonel Emilio Kosterlitzzky, a Polish officer in the Mexican federal army.

A clash between American troops and Mexican rebels also occurred there during the Villa-Carranza fighting.

The Carranza troops were fired upon by mistake, when it was thought that they were Villa followers attempting to raid the American side of the border.

The beautiful residence of Ignacio Bonillas, ambassador to Washington, is located within sight of the international lines, Nogales being his home.

SIX AVIATION DEATHS.

Washington, Aug. 27. — Six deaths were caused in aviation accidents in flying fields in this country during the week ending August 27, the war department announced today. There was one fatality for every 3,338 hours of flying, or 291,040 miles of air travel.

AMBASSADOR PAGE HAS OFFERED RESIGNATION

Due to Continued Ill Health—Is Learned President Wilson Will Accept Resignation.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Due to continued ill health, Walter Hines Page, ambassador of the United States to Great Britain has offered his resignation to President Wilson. While no official announcement was forthcoming today it was learned in official circles that the president at the urgent request of the ambassador had decided to accept the resignation. First news of the intention of Ambassador Page, who was appointed to his post in April 1913, to retire, came today in an Associated Press despatch from London.

When Mr. Page assumed office he was entirely without diplomatic experience or training, his career preceding that date having been in the line of literary endeavor with a practical experience as a publisher.

Yet it was soon manifested to the satisfaction of the state department that the diplomatic business of the government in Great Britain safely could be entrusted to him. With the outbreak of the war in the year following his assumption of office, Mr. Page was called upon to display talents on constructive statesmanship in an international sense that has made his administration singularly successful. Questions of the gravest importance were constantly arising, growing out of the reckless disregard by Germany of all established principles of warfare.

Mr. Page was called upon early in the war to present the solemn protests of this government against many acts and orders in council on the part of Great Britain and France, but it was said at the state department that so tactfully and wisely did he handle these delicate questions that he was able to secure from the British and French government, then in a highly excited and sometimes unreasonable state of mind, modifications of the orders that went far to ameliorate the hardships imposed upon neutral commerce by the war. At the same time he retained the respect and regard of those governments.

Under the stress of his wartime tasks it was only natural that the health of Mr. Page, never very robust, should show signs of dispairment and it is recalled that nearly a year ago he sought to resign his office but was prevailed upon to continue on the understanding that his work would be lightened.

U. S. COURAGE AND GRIT EXEMPLIFIED

With the American Army in France, Monday, Aug. 26.—(By the A. P.)—American courage and grit again were exemplified Saturday night, when units on the Woevre front repulsed a German raid without serious loss. One American sustained sixteen machine gun bullet wounds, three in the calf of the leg, ten between the knee and the waist and three in the arm—but fought on. He will recover and be able to return to the fray. This soldier probably holds the American record for simultaneous wounds.

Another American was badly wounded in the stomach from fragments of grenades and his nose was blown off and his face torn. He continued to fight and had almost to be forced to go to a dressing station.

RELEASE ADJUTANT OF SCOTT FIELD

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—Captain Eugene Behrendt, Signal Corps, U. S. A., who had been adjutant of Scott Field, near Belleville, since the aviation field was opened last fall, it was learned today had been honorably dismissed from the army August 3. It is said a number of complaints had been filed against the captain by subordinate officers.

He was born in Germany and had served in the United States army for twenty years.

PULLS A "BONER"—SUFFERS $375 LOSS.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—William Killifer, catcher of the Chicago National league baseball team, is reproving himself today for a "boner that cost me $375." Catcher Killifer stepped out of his room at a downtown hotel yesterday leaving the door open. When he returned several diamond rings belonging to his wife were gone.

NEW MAN POWER BILL PASSED BY SENATE TUESDAY

Contains a Modified Work or Fight Clause

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The man-power bill bringing within the army draft al men from 18 to 45 years old was passed late today by the senate, with a modified work or fight clause.

All efforts to change the age limits or to direct separate classification of youths under twenty one failed, and the measure now goes to the conference between the house and senate with no difference for serious controversy except the work or fight provision.

The senate was recorded unanimously for the bill. Senator Gore of Oklahoma who cast the only negative vote on the roll call withdrew it and was excused from voting.

The final vote in the senate was recorded amid unchecked applause from the galleries filled with spectators who attended today's session to witness final congressional action on the measure that will add approximately 13,000,000 men to the potential military strength of the nation and provide in the opinion of the war department chiefs the army that will enable the allies to defeat Germany next year. In conference the differences in the drafts of the bill as passed today by the senate and as enacted Saturday by the house by a vote of 336 to 2 are expected to be compromised speedily and the bill in its final form transmitted to President Wilson for his signature late this week. Preparations being made by Provost Marshal General Crowder to carry out the provisions of the measures are expected to insure the registration of all men within the ages of 18 and 21 and 31 and 45 within a week or ten days after the president attaches his signature.

The senate adopted virtually all of the principal provisions of the bill desired by the administration including that giving the president authority to establish orders of call for service of men effected. President Wilson is expected to follow the plans of the war department, which according to testimony before the senate and house military committees by General March, chief of staff and General Crowder, provide for the calling of youths of eighteenyears after the other classes have been summoned and the education of such boys while training and prior to their being sent overseas. Controversy, which has engrossed the senate since the bill's consideration was begun last Thursday, today centered in a spirited struggle over the sentiment against calling youths under 21 and on the "work or fight" amendment.

Before adopting by a vote of 40 to 29 the work or fight amendment providing subjection to the men exempted for industrial and other persons who do not continue to work, a proviso was added that in case of strikes, penalties of the "work or fight" rules shall not apply if the men submit their disputes to the war labor board and continue their labor.

This limitation offered by Senator Cummings of Iowa, was incorporated 73 to 6.

Before taking the vote on final passage, the senate in crushing the opposition to service of youths under 21 twice bowled over an amendment by Senator Poindexter of Washington to make the minimum draft limit 19 instead of 18 years, first by a vote of 58 to 14 and against 51 to 21. A proposal by Senator Kirby of Arkansas to make 20 the minimum age was rejected 60 to 12, while that of Senator Vardaman of Mississippi to retain the present 21 year minimum was decisively defeated without a roll call.

Besides the "work or fight" amendment the final fate of which generally is regarded in doubt because of house opposition and lack of administration support the senate wrote in an amendment by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, Republican, providing that draft boards shall determine questions of deferred classifications without requiring registrants to claim exemption or defered classification.

The work or fight amendment retained in the bill provides:

"That when any persons shall have been placed in a deferred or exempted class for any of the reasons in this paragraph set-forth, he shall not be entitled to remain therein unless he shall in good faith continue, while physically able, so to do, to work at and follow such occupation, employment or business and if he fails so to do, he shall again become subject to the draft. The president shall make regulations for enforcing this provision.

"This proviso shall not apply in the case of a strike if the strikers have submitted or will at once submit the dispute to the war labor board, agree to abide and do abide by its decision and do at once resume work and continue work pending such decision. The board shall take up and decide all such dispute as spedily as practicable."

WAR SUMMARY

News of Activities On Various Battle Fronts in Summarized Form By Associated Press.

Frenzied counter-attacks by the foe have failed to hold back the British and French armies who are hard after the Germans on the seventy five mile battle front from the north of Aras to the region of Soissons.

All along the front the German line has given way before the pressure of the British and French troops at points where the falling back of the enemy or the capture of town and roads eastward adds greatly to his already serious predicament from the standpoint of strategy.

Bapaume one of the strategic points over which there has been much heavy fighting is still held by the Germans but the British are now so nearly around it that possibly few of the enemy remained inside the shell torn town. In the north the British already are across the upper end of the old Hindenburg line and if their progress continues they soon will be able to operate to the east of the line on unscared ground on which tanks and cavalry can be brought into the fray with good results.

On the Vesle front the Americans and Germans are in a rather bitter fight in the towns of Fismette and Bazoches. The Americans started the trouble at Bazoches and the Germans reciprocated with an attack on Fismette. At last accounts the Americans had the upper hand at both places.

Numerous towns, villages and hamlets have fallen into the hands of the British and French. The German rearguard actions in which innumerable machine guns are used are serving merely to keep the allied advance slowed down as far as possible while the main German bodies make their way eastward toward new positions.

In the region around Arras the British are no well astride the roads leading to Douai and Cambrai and further south along the Sommee have pressed forward until they are almost at the gates of Peronee.

Between the Somme and the Oise the French have broken the backbone of the German resistance at Raye, capturing this pivotal point to an invasion eastward of the plains of Picardy and advancing their lines north and south of the town over a front of about 12½ miles to a depth of more than 2½ miles at certain points. North of Soissons the French, altho the Germans are fighting them bitterly again have advanced slightly there line in the outflanking movement both against the Chemin-des-Dames region and the Noyon sector.

Everywhere the Germans have lost heavtily in men killed or made prisoners and in addition the allied troops again have captured numerous guns, machine guns and war stores. The prisoners taken from the British from last week aggregated 21,000.

In the fighting Tuesday around St. Mard west of Roye, the French secured 1,100 captives.

The Canadian troops are fighting in lively fashion between the Sensee and Scarpe rivers and to them have fallen numerous German-held villages and many prisoners.

NEW GREENBACKS IN CIRCULATION

Washington, Aug. 27.—Two new greenbacks—the first of the nation's war time currency—are in circulation. They are the $1 and $2 federal reserve bank notes planned especially to replace the silver certificates withdrawn from circulation, as the treasury's silver reserve is melted into bullion for export to the allies.

The one dollar note bears a portrait of George Washington in the upper left hand corner of the face side and otherwise resembles generally a federal reserve bank note. On the reverse side is shown in a center oval an eagle in full flight, typifying the nation mobilized for war.

CAPTAIN KERMIT ROOSEVELT HONORED.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The award to "temporary and honorary Captain Kermit Roosevelt," son of Colonel Roosevelt, of the military cross for services in Mesopotamia, was announced in the official gazette tonight. Until he joined the American forces in France, Captain Roosevelt was attached to the British army in Mesopotamia.

REQUEST PUBLIC TO CEASE USE OF AUTOS ON SUNDAY

Order Applys To All States East of the Mississippi

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 27.—The fuel administration today called upon the public in states east of the Mississippi river to cease using all calsses of automobiles, with a few named exceptions, motorcycles and motor boats on Sundays until further notice, as a gasoline conservation measure. Only voluntary compliance with the letter and spirit of the request will prevent the issuance of a mandatory order prohibiting the use of gasoline on Sundays, it was declared at the fuel administration. Automobiles for hire are included in the curtailment program.

Motor vehicles to which the restrictions do not apply were announced:

Tractors and motor trucks employed in the actual transportation of freight.

Vehicles of physicians used in performance of professional duties.

Ambulances, fire apparatus, police patrol wagons, undertakers' wagons and conveyances used for funerals.

Railway equipment using gasoline.

Repair outfits employed by telephone and public service companies.

Motor vehicles on errands of necessity in rural communities where transportation by steam or electricity is not available.

The action was taken by the fuel administration, it was stated, to meet a threatened shortage of gasoline for shipment overseas, created by increased domestic use and extensive military poerations in France.

"In view of the difficulty, if not the impossibility of differentiating between the various uses to which automobiles are applied the United States fuel administration believes that the greatest measure of economy can be effected with the least interference with the business of the country thru the discontinuance of the use of all classes of motor vehicles, motorboats and motorcycles, on Sunday," says the statement issued jointly by Fuel Administrator Garfield and Mark S. Requa, director of the oil division. The United States fuel administration therefore requests that in the section of the United States east of the Mississippi river there shall be a discontinuance of use of the vehicles above specified, including all such as are operated for hire, on each Sunday hereafter, until notification that the need of such discontinuance has ceased."

After listing the exceptions to the request, the statement makes an appeal to the "patriotic men and women of America, east of the Mississippi river, to undertake voluntarily additional conservation in the operating of their own automobiles wherever possible.

NEWBERRY LEADS FORD ON REPUBLICAN TICKET

Detroit Manufacturer Running Second in Contest for Michigan Senatorship, but Running Ahead on Democratic Ticket.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—Commander Newberry of the Third U. S. Naval District, fromer secretary of the navy, appears on the face of returns from approximately one fourth of all Michigan precincts to have been nominatede as Republican candidate for United States senator in today's primaries.

Henry Ford is running second with less than half as many votes as Commander Newberery, with Former Governor Chase S. Osborne a close third. William G. Simpson apparently polled only a light vote.

In the contest for the Democratic nomination for Senator, Ford, who was a candidate on both tickets had polled double the number of votes cast for his only opponent, James W. Helme, according to the incomplete returns.

Dial Deefats Blease.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 27.—Nat B. Dial has been nominated for the long term in the United States senate, defeating both Cole L. Blease and James F. Rice in the South aCrolina eDmocratic primary today.

Amsterdam, Aug. 27.—There are persistent rumors from a German source, says the frontier correspondent of the Telegraf, that a German battalion on being ordered to the front unanimously refused to go, whereupon every tenth man was shot. The others then gave up their resistance.

BRITISH ARMY SWEEP EASTWARD ON FIELD 45 MILES IN LENGTH

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 27.—By the Associated Press—Large reinforcements are being thrown in by the Germans in the neighborhood of Bapaume, especially at the town itself and in the area immediately south of it. Altho there is much confusion in the enemy ranks, his resistance stiffened appreciably tonight.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 27.—By the Associated Press.—Having been further extended by attacks launched north of the river Scarpe, the battle today was raging along a field almost forty-five miles long and the British with renewed vigor were rolling up the Boche before them and sweeping constantly eastward.

Nearly in the center of the battlefield hard fighting has been in progress along the old Hindenburg line in the neighborhood of Croisilles, Fontaine-les-Croisilles and Bullecourt and once thru the Germans strong defenses in this locality open fresh ground remains beyond.

The Hindenburg Line Pierced

The Hindenburg line has actually been pierced at one place east of Heninel and the weaker portion of it, northwest of Fontaine-les-Croisilles has been captured and mopped up.

During today's fighting the British captured high grounds from which they can overlook the country occupied by the enemy for miles around and have thus attained a great advantage. The Bois du Sart one of these places lies south of the Scarpe and northeast of Monchy-le-Preux and it was feared that here the enemy might hold up the advance for a time.

It was captured however, after a short but fierce struggle in which the Germans lost heavily.

Another similarly valuable point is Mont Auban northwest of Mametz which fell this morning after the Germans had been given orders to hold at all costs. These orders were suddenly changed and the enemy retired in retreat.

Still another is Dompierre, southeast of Cappy-sur-Somme. Dompierre was reached in the forenoon.

Incidentally, the British at this place are now only six miles from Peronne, where the Somme bends to the south.

Bapaume, having been almost surrounded, has been entered by British partols, and they have been fighting in the streets.

The town, therefore, is a sort of No Man's Land for the moment but its complete capture seems only a matter of hours.

Germans Try to Get Away.

The Germans are exhibiting still greater anxiety to get away from the advancing British and even the morale of the enemy machine gunners seems to be diminishing, as they are not holding to their posts with as much determination as early in the battle. North of the Scarpe, where the operations taken in conjunction with those south of the river are gradually releasing the pressure on Arras, the outskirts of Plouvain were reached and the line then ran at an angle slightly west and due north from this point with the British still going rapidly and the enemy resistance decreasing. South of the Scarpe the British reached Pelves. Almost directly south of it, however, the Bois du Sart and surrounding ground have been captured and thus Pelves cannot possibly hold out long.

Troops approached close to Croisilles, but a hot machine gun fire from that town and other indications that it was held by a large garrison caused them to pause for a moment. At the same time other troops attacked to the north against Fontaine-les-Croisilles. Having reached the outskirts of that place, they then swung southward to outflank Croissiles.

British Push Eastward.

To the south of this place the British have pushed well to the east of St. Leger and are now fighting just northwest of Ecoust-St.-Mein, between that town and Croissiles. Fighting likewise is in progress in the outskirts of Vaulx-Vrancourt.

East of Bapaume the line has been extended along the railway to Cambrai.

Maricourt and the ground to the east of it are well in British hands. Trones Station and wood and the ground to the east, which is valuable because it is high, were captured, as well as Moulin-de-Fargy, on the Somme river bank, which was in the British front lines at the opening of the first battle of the Somme. Vaux wood also was occupied and was held firmly.

After an all-night fight Wancourt tower and town, south of the Scarpe, were taken and the important Heninel Ridge, as well as Heninel village, also was captured. It was to the north of the Somme that the formidable organized attack was launched by the British on an 8,000 yard front, this morning, and it was this which had such good results in ground gaining. All the British guns have been moved up and are following close behind the infantry and the tanks.

The barrage laid down north of the Somme today was as heavy as any since the battle began, but the enemy counter barrage was so thin as hardly to deserve the name. Obviously the Germans are trying to save as many guns as possible. But despite this, they lost a considerable number today. One small British formation alone captured two complete 77 German field batteries since yesterday. The Germans ran for their lives when the British suddenly appeared close to them and did not even make an effort to save their guns.

German soldiers have begun to exhibit their greatest contempt for their officers and are carrying their feelings right into the prisoners' cages. In a number of cages, into which thousands are pouring, the German soldiers have gone out of their way to be extremely insolent to their officers, jeering at them and loudly proclaiming their views in no uncertain manner.

The German 14th division is the latest to meet with disaster. One of its battalion commanders, his adjutant and what remained of the staff were captured while the unit itself was virtually wiped out.

The Canadians, in their operations yesterday south of the Scarpe, took more than 2,000 prisoners, and they continued their work of capturing large numbers today.

From present indications, it seems that at least on the southern end of the battlefield the Boche is slowly, but surely, going back over the Somme. The capture of Roye by the French will help the movement, while between there and the Somme there is every sign that the Germans have had enough.

THE A. E. F. VOTE.

To all present appearances it will be impracticable to take the votes of any considerable number of soldiers in the American Expeditionary Forces over seas, notwithstanding the efforts some of the states have made or will make for that purpose. The War Department has given assurances of its desire to co-operate with the states in the taking of the votes of soldiers, but points out difficulties which apparently will make the vote so incomplete that it will be unsatisfactory, if taken. Many of the American regiments are scattered among French regiments, men from one state are mingled with men from other states, some are in the trenches, others on the march, others in the rear of the trenches, and still others in the engineering corps far from the firing line. Owing to the necessity for censoring all mail, a secret ballot cannot be taken. The War Department cannot undertake to do anything that will at any time interfere with the regular military activities or that will hamper the officers in their work. In summarizing the limitations upon the aid it can given to the states in taking the votes of citizens in the army overseas, the War Department says:

"The War Department will not be responsible in any way for obtaining the vote of anyone in France or in any other part of Europe but will assist the states to secure the votes of men in the military service so far as it may be possible to do so without interfering with military duties.

"It will not be possible to take the vote of any soldiers who is actively engaged in military operations, unless such soldier be able to cast his vote by transmitting an executed ballot thru the mails as ordinary correspondence.

"In no case will the War Department furnish to States, or to election officials thereof, lists of persons who have entered the military service therefrom. Neither can the War Department undertake to forward to men who are, or who are supposed to be, in the military service blank ballots or any other species of election forms or literature which may have been addressed to them, care of the War Department or of any bureau or office of the War Department, for their use or guidance in connection with casting their votes at either a primary or a genral election. However, when qualified voters of a certain State are known to be in the military service as members of a certain organization, but the organizational address is unknown, the War Department will furnish such address upon receipt of request therefor from the State, or an election official thereof.

"The censorship which is now imposed upon every letter coming out of France can not be waived in favor of mail purporting to be votes of persons in the military service.

"Where State laws require that oaths shall be administered and certificates made in order to validate the votes, officers of the military service will be permitister such oaths and make such certificates; provided that this will in no way interfere with active military operations.

"Where the State laws require the sending of election commissioners to take the soldiers' votes, the military authorities will place at the disposal of such commissioners every assistance that is found to be compatible with the exigenecies of the military situation. In most instances, however, it will be impracticable to permit commissioners to take the votes."

RIPPLING RHYMS

WORDS AND COIN.

If words would swat the raging foe, and lay a swath of Teutons low, the war would end tonight; we've countless lads who'd elocute the stuffing from the war lord Teut, and put his hosts to flight. We've countless gents who spend their days inventing epigram and phrase, and hard boiled metaphor; the way they roast the Hun is great, and ought to jar that Wilhelm skate—but words won't win the war. The gent who buys some green thrift stamps brings terror to the Prussian camps, far more than windy sharks, who keep their kopecks in their pance, but stand erect at every chance, to make a few remarks. Dig up, dig up, before you spiel! Dig up the bone, the buck, the wheel, the kroner and the yen! Go down in your tin savings bank, dig up the shilling and the franc, dig up the iron men! When you have stripped the strongbox bare, then you may stand and paw the air until the cows come home; but talk that isn't backed by wealth won't incleave his crested dome. September comes—another "Loan" will call for every hard earned bone that patriots can raise; and he who buys himself a bond does more to help our boys beyond, than all the screeching jays.

TAXI DRIVER HURT IN COLLISION

John Kennedy Receives Cuts About Head When Taxi Hits Street Car—Accident Occurred at Intersection of North Main and North Streets.

John Kennedy, a taxi driver was painfully cut about the head and face about 9:30 o'clock Tuesday evening when his cab collided with a street car at the corner of North Main and East North streets.

Two traveling men whom Kennedy was taking from the Chicago and Alton to the Wabash station escaped injury. The taxi cab had the front axle bent and one front wheel damaged. No damage resulted to the street car which was in charge of motorman K. W. Kelley.

Kennedy was driving east in East North street when the accident occurred. He had two passengers, traveling salesmen who wanted to take the 9:45 east bound Wabash passenger on the Wabash. Kennedy was driving at a fair rate of speed.

The street car was going south in North Main street and was also traveling at a good rate of speed. The buildings are so located that it was impossible for the drivers of the vehicles to see each other in time to avoid a collision. Kennedy applied his brakes but not in time to stop his taxi which struck the street car head on.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor Journal:

As I read the Income Tax Law and the Treasury rulings the following editorial of Sunday morning is incorrect and might cause a tax payer to make an erroneous return:

"The U. S. Steel corporation recently gave $100,000 to the vation Army war work. It is well for both corporations and individuals to remember that in making income tax returns that contributions to war relief enterprises may be deducted."

The Law is as follows: Deduction Allowed to Individuals.

Sec. 5. That in computing net income in the case of a citizen or resident of the United States:

(a) For the purpose of the tax there shall be allowed as deductions: Ninth. "Contributions or gifts actually made within the year to corporations or associations organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, or educational purposes, or to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net income of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholders or individual, to an amount not in excess of fifteen per centum of the tax payer's taxable net income as computed without the benefit of this pargraph. Such contributions or gifts shall be allowable as deductions only if verified under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury."

The only deductions allowed Corporations for contributions or gifts is for Donations for Welfare of Employes, and is in Treasury Decision No. 2090.

"Donations by corporations which legitimately represent a consideration for a benefit flowing directly or indirectly to the corporation as an incident of its business are allowable deductions from gross income in ascertaining net income subject to the income tax, as donations to a hospital upon consideration that employees of the corporation are to have a ward for their use in case of accident or illness. The absence of consideration moving in some form to the corporation will make a contribution a mere gratuity.

"Donations made for the purposes connected with the operation of the property when limited to charitable institutions, hospitals or educational institutions, conducted for the benefit of the employes of a corporation or their dependents, shall be proper as a deduction under the head of expense in the return of the corporation."

The

Minnesota Wheat Lands

Kittson County, where the late James J. Hill had a 26,000 acre wheat and stock farm offers unusual opportunities.

The Payne Investment Co. now offers an attractive list of farms in that county, values ranging from $40 to $75 an acre, according to location and improvements.

Read what John W. Thomas, a Morgan county man who located in Kittson county this year, says:

"The grain in this locality is looking fine. We have had an abundance of moisture and from present prospects I expect to harvest enough this year to equal the value of the quarter section of land I purchased. The climate has been ideal thus far and all the members of my family are in the best of health. If you are thinking of buying land I don't know any locality where it will pay for itself as quickly or advance as rapidly as here. The country is settling up very rapidly. Wheat, oats, alfalfa and barley are the principal crops. The soil is rich, black and deep."

Will be pleased to furnish literature and information about Kittson county farms, most of which are located near Humbolt.

FACTS GIVEN ABOUT INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

Local Packing Plant Compiles Questionnaire for Government—Men to be Supplied for Essential Industries.

Something of the scope and methods of operation of the manpower bill can be seen in questionnaire which the Powers-Begg Packing Co. has just filled out for the government. This questionnaire was received recently and Mr. Begg of the company in conversation yesterday said that the questions asked made it clear that the government is getting detailed information about industrial plants, especialy those that are handling necessities of life or are in any way connected with the filling of government contracts. The first understanding was that the manpower bill would not affect companies employing less than 100 men, but that has been changed and the bill applies to all employing concerns associated with war contracts.

In the questionnaire the local company furnished the number of men employed, the hours of labor and the wages paid. Facts were given as to the amount of over time. Then personal questions about the men were answered, the report setting forth the nationality of men, whether married or unmarried, whether they owned or rented their homes; if owners, valuations of property, and if renters the amount of rent paid. There were other questions outlining facts about the family relationships of the men. Inquiry was also made as to how long the men had been in the employ of the company and record was required as to how many have been employed and left the employment of the company during a specified period of time.

Men Must Stick to Jobs.

The company is also asked to indicate how many employes are needed for a definite time and some facts about the work which would be required from them. This indicates to the company management that the government proposes to stop the continued shifting about of men from industry to industry and from city to city. It is seemingly the further purpose to provide workers for essential industry and to require that men remain at work for such industry even tho they have opportunities to work elsewhere.

The operation of the "work or fight" order was shown the other day at the Alton Cartridge factory. There an employe who had been at the plant a comparatively short time but was competent for the work he was doing, announced that he was soon going to another industry in another city. The fact was reported to a government agent, who interviewed the employe and secured a statement of his intentions. Then the federal representative made his identity know and the worker was told that he must stay on the job on which he was engaged or enter the army service, and he was given just a very few minutes to make up his mind.

Facts About Steam Costs.

In addition to seeking some facts about manpower at the local packing plant, the government has required certain additions of stop cocks and gauges for the power plant. There is a rule now which makes it necessary to in some way utilize exhaust steam and a record must be kept for a period of weeks and months showing the amount of coal consumed in the production of a pound of steam during differnt hours of the day or night, and the different days of the week. It takes a large amount of work to answer all the questions that are now being propounded by the government to the management of large industries and extensive compilation of records is necessary, but the business men see the good in of the government and realize that results of the right kind will be attained.

The manpower bill is undoubtedly going to help out with the labor situation in essential industries and it is also true that some worth while savings are going to result from the records and tests that the government is now requiring.

SECRETARY FINLEY HOME FROM RANTOUL

Has Been Engaged in Y. M. C. A. Work at Chanute Aviation Field—Camp Is Busy Place—Has City Mail Service.

J. S. Finley, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., returned Tuesday afternoon from Rantoul, Ill., where he has been the past few weeks. Mr. Finley has been at the Chanute Aviation Field where he had charge of the religious work of the camp. There are about 1,200 soldiers located here, of which practically all are training for a commission as an aviator.

The work in which Mr. Finley was engaged was very interesting and varied. He promoted all the religious work of the camp, visited the hospital each day, took the patients writing material and often was asked to write letters for the wounded. The hospital can accommodate about 200 patients and at the time of Mr. Finley's departure there were about fifty patients there. He stated that there was very little sickness in the camp, but those in the hospital were there as a result of minor injuries. Various meetings and social stunts were included in his work.

An interesting phase of the amount of mail that is sent out from the field can be realized when Mr. Finley explained that paper and envelopes put out in a pile about a foot and a half high were put out each morning and that this pile had to be replenished two and three times during the day. A post office and Western Union office is located on the grounds and mail is collected and delivered four times a day.

JOHN SWEENEY WRITES FROM FRANCE

Interesting Letter Received from Former Jacksonville Young Man By Lieut. McGinnis.

Lieut. Harold McGinnis, instructor at Scott Field, Belleville, has received the following interesting letter from Lieut. John Sweeney, who is with the Medical Corps branch of the army in France:

July 24, 1918.

Dear Mac:

Your letter blew in this a. m. and must say that I was both surprised and pleased. Before you start over here you want to get all of your friends in the state to put their mit on the well known bible and swear to write at least once a week. Of course they won't do it but it might make them write oftener than if they hadn't committed themselves. Letters from the U. S. A. are the best things in France and believe muh they are welcome.

Want to congratulate you on your rapid rise. You'll be a d—— sight better qualified and better satisfied for having been a buck private, when you get your wings. I certainly envy you and am sorry I'm not in your branch. I made a stab last spring (1917) but fell down on measurements. Have a good many friends in aviation, many who are stationed a few kilometers from here and the only thing they lack, and what we all want, is Liberty motors.

We are wearing service stripes now and it seems like a long time ago since I worried about having a crease in my trousers or a tie to wear. We have a peach of a station, the best in France, and are the most advanced base hospital. We have been busy right from the start and will continue to be for some time. You have read by this time of what happened at Chateau Thierry the first part of this week and July 15th to 24th and believe me the Americans showed them all a few fine things about the gentle art of straffing the Hun.

I have just returned from my leave and will have to rest up a few days before I can get back into the harness again. Of course I went on leave "to rest up" but you know how it would feel to get to Paris with a lot of "jack" in your kick after being in a place the size of Markham for a year. Had a grand time and met a big bunch of men I knew. While I was there Fritz started his long range gun for our entertainment but didn't spoil the party. The shells would drop every twenty minutes and everybody sitting in front of the cafes would be holding their watches waiting for the next one. You can tell to a minute when they will drop. It's different than up the line. You can't tell, but you know darned well some are coming soon.

Have had some good trips since I've been here. We have a batch of Paige and G. M. C. ambulances and I've had a chance to see all the fronts. Mostly I go to Toul and Luneville and Baccaret. Was behind Chateau-Thierry last week, but had to come back to the base.

Will have to close now and get some "slum"—hope to see you and about 5,000,000 more over here soon. Hope I don't see you like about eighteen hundred others we have here now, but on your feet and raring to go."

So long—tell everybody you see "Hello" and hurry up.

Regards,

J. V. Sweeney.

EXEMPTION BOARD NEWS

The local board has been advised that Jason Talkington has been discharged from Camp Dix on account of physical disqualifications. Mr. Talkington was sent to Camp Dix directly from Waverly.

Soldiers who leave for army camps have had the allowance for meals increased. In the past the government allowed 60 cents a meal and this figure has been increased to 75 cents The difficulty of securing good meals at the lower price at railroad eating houses was no doubt the cause for the change.

The local board some time ago received from the commissioner of naturalization, U. S. department of labor, a request for the names and addresses of all men who are now in deferred classification on account of "alienage" and who would be otherwise in class 1 if they were declarants. It is the intention of the bureau to send these lists to the respective chief naturalization examiners, that the officers of this service may interview the aliens and ascertain whether or not they have filed declarations of intentionfi or so-called "first papers," either before or since being classified. If the examiner receives a negative answer, he will then search the records of the respective courts where the alien might have filed his declaration of intention, to ascertain definitely whether or not he has actually taken that step.

In the event no record is found, the examiner will inform the alien of the proper procedure to take to file his so-called "first paper" and will place him in a position to do so, if he so desires. Should declaration of intention be filed, the alient will then be subject to re-classification and his name be sent to the proper local exemption board for re-classification and re-examination as to military service.

The selective service act provides: "That a citizen or subject of a country neutral in the present war who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be relieved from liability to military service upon his making a declaration, in accordance with such regulations as the president may prescribe, withdrawing his intention to become a citizen of the United States which shall operate and be held to cancel his declaration of intention to become an American citizen and he shall forever be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States."

In accordance with the above request the local board has compiled and submitted the following list of registrants who are in deferred classification on account of alienage:

Edmund C. Frost, Chicago.
Louis Winaker, Chicago.
Steven Suryk, 315 Fayette street.
Samuel Ferraro, 407 W. College avenue.
Guiseppa Mazzamuto, St. Louis.
Vincent LaPlaca, St. Louis.
Nicholas Shadid, 352 E. Court street

WITH THE COLORS

FROM ROY J. NELSON.

Mrs. Laura K. Nelson of No. 225 Anna street, has received the following letter from her son, Roy J. Nelson, who is now somewhere in France:

My Dear Mother:

No doubt you have looked day after day for a letter from me, but I was and am still in doubt as to the length of my stay here. I left the States about the time I expected, so I did not receive your letter until I arrived overseas.

The trip over was interesting, but I cannot explain all until I see you. Nature has certainly provided some beautiful scenery over here. Some things of course look queer to us. I speak but little of this language, but could do better if I tried.

You of course will notice I do not state where I am, that is because it is against our military laws, but I am O. K. so far. Harry and I are in different battalions, so I don't see him often. Tell Ella he carries a pistol as long as he is, and makes a splendid soldier. I saw George Thompson about 10 days ago and he looks fine. Jimmie and Jessie Wade are here, and Oscar Alexander came over when I did also. This is some interesting trip and I hope I get back so I can reflect and call back to memory what I am going thru. Things move so swiftly here we don't realize what is going on until it is done. If I should stumble and fall on a bullet and not get back, pray for me. I will not have time to write to Dr. Kenniebrew now, as I am busy night and day, but tell him for me that his instruction on squads are right and to the rear march, among his many other worthy commands have been a great help to me over here. Tell him that every time I hear of the old Eighth Illinois, I think of him as my commander of Co. L.

I used to feel at times that he would drill us like the devil because he felt bad, but I find myself doing the same things in service to a great extent that he taught us, and I am only sorry that I cannot thank him in person for his patience and I feel that all the boys feel that way.

Give all the friends my best regards, and love to all. It will take plenty of Pep to wash me away.

Your loving son,
Roy J. Nelson,

The allies will gain new heart and spirit in your company. I wish I could shake the hand of each one of you and bid you God speed on your mission."

The letter from young Ogle to his parents appears below

Washington, Aug. 27.—Details of the recent shelling of an American Red Cross bath house for Belgian soldiers near the Belgian front, in which 23 Belgian employes were killed and 60 others were injured, were received today at American Red Cross headquarters. The three large buildings including a laundry and fumigating plant, which were destroyed, gave employment to 200 persons.

A shell hit the roof of the laundry of the bath about 11 o'clock in the morning. Men, women and children were hurled in every direction. Parts of bodies were found in the street many feet from the structure.

An hour after the shell hit the building a soldier brought a bundle to the hospital containing the arm of a little boy he had found in a vacant lot.

A large sum of money was made available by the Red Cross at once for the relief of the injured and their families.

The employes were refugees, driven from Belgiau towns by the German advance. A little hunched back girl, who was supporting her widowed mother, lost both legs. At the hospital she said to her mother: "It doesn't matter so much. I can still sit and sew. I will be a dressmaker and we will get along."

BUSINESS RECORDS ARE EXAMINED

Washington, Aug. 27.—Examination of the business records of about 25 coal producing companies by experts of the internal revenue bureau has disclosed unreported profits yielding more than $5,000,000 additional tax revenue to the government. More than 2,500 companies remain to be examined and officials expect to gather a total of $50,000,000 taxes from these sources.

Similar studies now are being made of the woolen, oil and metal mining businesses, and corps of examiners will be sent into the field soon to survey these industries. The revenue bureau expects later to examine more than a dozen industry groups which showed exorbitant profits last year, in the hope of uncovering new revenue sources.

About $6,500,000 additional revenue has been obtained for the government through the examination by the treasury's excess profits tax reviewers of returns of 1,600 corporations.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO PAY THESE PRICES

Paris, Aug. 27.—Very high prices for all necessary articles of food and clothing are being paid by the residents of Prague, Bohemia, according to a repartriated French governess who has arrived at Evian-les-Bains on the frontier. She says the following prices obtain in Prague:

Pork, $6.60 a pound; fat and butter, $8 a pound; chocolate, $11 a pound; coffee, $12 a pound; cocoa and tea, $16; eggs, 43 cents each; a man's suit, $210; a yard of cloth, $30; a spool of cotton. $6; a pair of shoes, $50.

Soap has disappeared and cheese cannot be obtained. Bread is poor in quality, but is the only kind obtained at a reasonable price. Those wealthy enough to pay $10 for a chicken and $42 for a small turkey can still obtain them. There is almost no meat.

10-POUND SUGAR LIMIT IS LIFTED

CHINESE TEMPLES PUT TO ODD USE

With Peking Residents "Temple Parties" Constitute a Popular Diversion in Summer---Occupant Enjoys Absolute Peace and Quiet.

Peking, August — "Temple parties" constitute a popular form of diversion for the summer months in Peking. The hills to the westward are dotted with so-called temples—rambling compounds of one-story buildings built centuries ago by emperors in memory of departed ancestors. The buildings invariably surround a paved court or often a series of such courts, shaded as a rule by century-old trees. In the temple proper, still to be found a gigantic "buddha" or idol before whom joss-sticks are lighted at intervals by priests and acolytes, of whom there are generally a half dozen all, told, occupying a portion of the compound.

It is quite easy and inexpensive to secure the use of one of these temples, one or more of the unoccupied subsidiary buildings—for a week end, a week or the whole summer. They are entirely without furniture except insofar as a raised platform where the Chinese used to sleep might be called furniture. Once installed the occupant enjoys absolute peace and quiet by day. As a rule he sleeps in the company of one of the lesser "buddhas" who is hidden behind a curtain. The only intrusion upon his privacy occurs when the priest or acolyte bring food and places it before the idol and returns later to remove what the rats have left of it.

A number of the old timers in Peking have their temple leased year after year and pass the summer there. For the novice, owing to the general lack of everything that makes for comfort, once is enough. It is a thing however that everybody must do once.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

WEATHER OBSERVERS TRAINED FOR U. S. ARMY

First Class Preparing to Leave Texas College for France—War Department Plans to Train 1,000 Men in Work.

College Station, Texas, Aug. 15—The first calss of weather observers ever trained for the United States army is preparing to leave shortly for France, where the members will report on general weather and atmospheric conditions as an aid in planning gas, artillery, airplane and various other attacks.

Experts who have pushed the three hundred or more students thru the intensive course of instruction at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, declared that the men now are capable of determining the state of weather for a distance of twelve miles above the earth.

It is the plan of the war department to train 1,000 men at the College, which is the only school of general meteorology in the country, and this will necessitate two more courses in shifts of 335 students because of limited facilities.

Only college men are fitted to take up the work, and the first class includes professors, mineralogists, engineers and other technical experts. Dr. Oliver L. Bassig of the United States Weather Bureau and Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, is chief instructor.

INTERVENTION IN RUSSIA A NECESSITY

Combined Intervention By Entente Nations in Siberia Imperative as Miltary Diversion, Is Argument Set Forth In Tokio—Japanse Army Ready for Any Emergency.

Tokio, Aug. — (Correspondence of The Associated Press.) —One of the arguments set forth here in favor of a combined intervention by the Entente Nations in Siberia was that it was represented as believing that if the expeditionary forces did not penetrate into Russia as far as the old battle line on the eastern front, it would nevertheless, relieve the French front and force the Germans again to prepare to meet an adversary on the eastern front.

It was urged here that an expedition composed of forces of the leading Entente Nations would be absolutely friendly toward Russia and would rally to its force Russian elements which are believed to be bitterly opposed to the German domination. It was also contended that such an expeditionary force would counteract the economic and industrial, as well as political, penetration of Russia by the Germans.

The indications here are that the economic aspects of the war are attaining a very important stage and the belief is expressed that if Russia is left alone there is danger of her falling permanently under the economic grip of the Germans.

France, which has made immense loans to Russia, was said here to believe that a miltary move from the East, cautiously conducted, would save something to the entente of their tremendous economic interests in Russia.

England was described as fearing the German advance toward the Indian frontier and as feeling that a joint intervention would protect the situation in that direction.

Japan and China, who are now united in a military agreement, have the interest of protecting themselves against the advance of the German menace to the Far East and are believed to be sympathetic to any project which would check possible aggressions.

Still another consideration raised here as justifying intervention is that Germany is steadily employing Russians in her munition plants and general enterprises connected with the war and is thus able to relieve a large number of her own citizens for service on the western front. This development declared to be a new menace that is liable to lengthen the war. Advocates of intervention insist that it should be of a nature to hold and reconstruct Russia.

From a military standpoint, it is understood the Japanese army is ready for any emergency.

As a prominent diplomat told the correspondent "Washington has only to push the button and intervention will come immediately."

The opponents of intervention question its advisability. They think it would be steadily opposed by the Bolsheviki and prove to be an error similar to that of Gallipoli and Rumania.

Long Island City, N. Y.—"My daughter is a milliner and she got into a rundown condition, pale and had no appetite. After other medicines failed to help her, Vinol gave her a good appetite, built her up and completely restored her health."—Mrs. H. Ott.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, rundown system, and create strength. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

Kaiser Creates a Special Decoration on Anniversary of Ruthless Warfare's Inauguration.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 4.—Captain Persius, the naval ... deals ... this time in ... Preuss... dich ... fare. ... man ... activ... very ... fiect... happy an... y served ... still ... sumpti... much hop... Persius, in order to pass the ..., had of course to indulge in praise of the U-boat campaign and to express some belief in its eventual effectiveness, but the interlards that observation with some remarks which are interesting in view of Sir Eric Geddes's latest statement.

He ... Germ... can om... man sul... of Engl... peace w... sius, "p... hof ship... Then ... cussion ... starved. ... question ... ters it h... starvati... thought ... tains ... ships ... many's foes will not be able to carry on the war with the hope of complete success."

He goes into one current set of figures of tonnage and destruction and ridicules it, showing that if it were true England by October of last year would not have had a single ship left for other than strictly war purposes. Persius points out that in 1914, according to Lloyd's Register, the world's shipping reached a total of about 49,000,000 tons, and he reckons that today the figure is 42,000,000, "of which by far the greater portion is at the disposal of our enemies." He arrives at that figure after making apparently ample allowance for everything, and emphasizes the fact that there are improving means of defense against the U-boats and greatly increased activity in hostile and neutral building yards. He concludes:

"It is still a very great task which lies before our U-boats to achieve the object of so reducing the shipping of our enemies that they will be forced to show their disposition for peace."

AMSTERDAM, Feb 4.—A dispatch received here today from Berlin gives the German reply to the statement last week of Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the British Admiralty, who in reviewing the first year of unrestricted submarine warfare said the submarine menace was being held, that the sinking of merchantmen was decreasing and the destruction of U-boats increasing, and that the morale of the submarine crews was deteriorating on account of the British policy of secrecy in regard to the fate of the men on submarines which failed to return to their bases. The German reply, in the form of a semi-official statement, follows:

"What Sir Eric Geddes said is not new. It is merely repetition of familiar assertions which are disproved by the facts and appear periodically in the speeches of talkative wire-pullers in England. If that brave optimist Geddes expects by such means to lower the morale and the power of resistance of our U-boat crews, he will have as little success as has been met with in the attempts to bluff the German people, who long ago realized that English secrecy was nothing but an expression of consciousness of weakness."

Emperor William created a special decoration for U-boat crews on the anniversary of the inauguration of ruthless submarine warfare as "recognition for meritorious work during the war." The Vossische Zeitung says the decoration is available for officers and crews after three voyages.

The Emperor also has conferred the order Pour le Mérite on Admiral von Holtzendorff, head of the Naval General Staff, and Admiral Scheer, commander of the German battle fleet.

Governor Allows the New Rochelle Saloons to Open.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY Jan. 31.—With the approval of Governor Whitman, ... Commissioner Herbert S. Sisson ... lifted the embargo which since ... last year has prevented the sale of liquor in New Rochelle. The order was revoked on the ground that the emergency which led to the embargo no longer existed.

At the time the embargo was established approximately 5,000 recruits for the United States naval and military service were billeted in the city owing to overcrowding at Fort Slocum, their point of destination.

keenly interested in the passengers who traveled to Spain from Vera Cruz. An official of the company was asked whether the pictures printed in a New York newspaper on Sunday showing a German U-boat in a Spanish port being supplied from a Spanish steamship had anything to do with the Washington licenses could not be allowed under the policy of the War Trade Board.

No comment other than this statement was to be had officially at the War Trade Board offices concerning the Spanish situation. Spain has given allied officials no end of perplexity. Although not so situated geographically as to ship supplies readily into Germany, charges have been made that goods from Spanish Morocco have gone through the Swiss port of entry in France into Switzerland and thence into Germany. Charges also have been made that the German spy system has used wireless equipment in Spain to communicate with the Central Powers.

A considerable element in the Spanish Government, it is well known, is German in its leanings, and officials in Washington express no hesitation in inti-

GRAIN PRICES TAKE TO THE CELLAR

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—There might have been an air raid on the board of trade today from the way prices took to the cellar. Corn dropped 3⅝@4c, oats ¾@⅞c and provisions 17½@55c.

Crop reports were ignored as offering nothing new. Against the prices were arrayed increased receipts of larger consignments, a lower sample market and the impression that tomorrow's government weather report would show some improvement in crops due to last weeke's rains. October 4c under yesterday at $1.58¼. Herging pressure, increasing receipts and primarily the corn weaknes accounted for the decline in the oat market. Cash houses bought September and sold October at a spread of 1¾c at one time. Shipping and export demand was slow and the arrivals included some Indiana and other corn unusualy shipped east. October closed ⅞c down at 72⅜c.

In provisions trade was small and there was nothing to oppose the bearish influence of the corn decline. Pork closed 45@55c lower; lard 17½c lower.

STOCKS ARE LITTLE MORE SUSCEPTIBLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Stocks were slightly more susceptible to favorable developments today altho extreme gains of 1 to 3 points among the usual favorites were irregularly reduced before the close.

A more hopeful feeling prevailed as to money prospects regardless of a renewal by the federal reserve board ofl ast month's warning concerning the urgent need of credit conservation.

Pronounced expansion of business in bank acceptances was reported but this was without effect upon ordinary call laons which ruled at six per cent, the same rate applying to such time funds as were available.

Canadian Pacific enjoyed another upward spurt tho not attaining to its hig record of last week.

United States steel rose to the year's best at 115⅝, but half of the advantage was forfeited in the moderate selling of the final hour.

Gross advances of 1 to almost three points were registered by other industrials and equipments as well as shipings, coppers, tobaccos, Industrial Alcohol, distillers and sundry specialties. Sales amounted to 415,000 shares.

Foreign issues were the striking feature of the enlarged dealings in bonds, French 5s and municipals making substantial gains on the further hardening of Paris exchange. Total sales par value, aggregated $7,700,000.

ROOT AND HERB MEDICINES

Indian medicine men contend that the roots and herbs of the field furnish a panacea for every ill to which human flesh is heir. Be that as it may, it is interesting to note that the most successful remedy in the world for female ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was compounded more than forty years ago by Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., from the roots and herbs of the field, and today it is recognized from shore to shore as the standard remedy for female ills. —Adv.

KANSAS CITY LETTER.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Aug. 26th, 1918.—Trade in stockers and feeders last week was active up to the limit of the supply, total shipments out 20,000 head, a small decrease from the previous week, and 4,000 less than in the same week last year. Plain stock steers suffered a small decline during the week, but good to choice kinds sold 15 to 25c higher than during the previous week. Receipts Monday of this week were 28,000 cattle, largest run here this year. The bulk of the supply came from Kansas, which state has been very dry up until late last week. The corn crop estimate in Kansas has been cut 50 per cent since the first of August, and the question of stock water had become aserious one, country roads in most parts of the state beineg full of water wagons, but the rains late last week relieved this condition to some extent altho too late to save much of the corn, but Kansas will have some fall pastures and forced marketing of cattle from the state will not be necssary for the present. Trade in stockers and feeders was active Monday of this week at the range of prices established late last week, feeders $10.50 to $14.50, stock steers $8 to $12.50, stock cows and heifers, $7 to $10.50. Shipments from the Panhandle will be lighter this year than usual, because of two or three years of dry weather in that country, but other parts of the range states wil make liberal shipments, particularly the mountain section of Colorado where loading for market will begin on a large scale, September 1st. Stock hogs are $1.00 higher than a week ago including an advance of 50 to 75 cents Monday of this week, sales on the open market on that day, $17.50 to $18. Commission men here have many orders on hand for stock pigs from feeders as far east of Ohio, and while Kansas has had to ship a good many stock pigs and will have to ship more, the demand has been fully equal to the supply. Good western feeding lambs sold here during the last week at $17 to $17.35, but sales will probable be lower this week in view of prospects of a larger supply of westerns from this time on.—J. A. Rickart, Market Correspondent.

MISTAKE FLAG.

New York, Aug. 26.—A white flag bearing in its center a red triangle, innocently raised in an uptown street by Jewish Red Cross workers caused a disturbance arly today in which shots were fired and the strange banner destroyed in a bonfire.

Soldiers, sailors and civilions took part in a fight when the military men mistook the flag for the emblem of the Bolsheviki and tore it down. Some of the civilions, it was stated, fired revolvers but no one was injured. A number of arrests were made.

HELD FOR SHOOTING.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 26.—James Platt, 22, a machinist, is in jail charged with shooting and killing Mrs. Myrtle Coker, 28, following a lover's quarrel here this afternoon. Platt threatened his victim, it is alleged, who retorted that he did not dare to kill her and he answered by shooting. She died instantly.

Platt was arrested shortly after the shooting.

WEATHER REPORTS ARE IMPORTANT TO AIRMEN

When Machines Go on Long Flights to Bomb German Towns Aviators Must Know What Weather to Expect—How They Dress for Flights.

A British Aerodrome Somewhere in France, Aug. — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—An hour before dusk, the weather reports from all parts of France, as well as from London and the English coast ,begin pouring into the office of the "Night Bombing Squadron." When machines are going on a long flight to bomb German towns, it is very desirable to know what weather may be expected.

By means of a little balloon whose speed and direction, as it soars upward, is registerd by a special instrument, the direction and force of the wind at different levels is discovered. This information tells the airman what course he must steer and what allowances he must make for deflection ad wind-drift.

The pilots and observers are called into the mapping office and the orders for the night are read aloud by the Commanding Officer. Maps are collected, and photographs of the objective are examined, so that the airmen may familiarize themselves with the surroundings as they appear from the air.

Then they hurry away to their rooms, and get ready for the long flight thru the cold night skies.

Heavy sweaters are donned and soft leather tigh boots lined with white fleece are pulled on over thick woolen stockings. Mufflers are wrapped round necks and mouths. The airmen climb into over-all suits of waterproof material lined with long black fur. These are securely stropped at ankles and wrists. Fur-lined leather helmets and goggles are put on, and yellow whale oil is smeared over the face to prevent frost bite. Then, gathering up their thick fur gloves, their torches and maps, their sandwiches and vacuum flasks, their note-boks and pencils, the airmen straddle awkwardly out to the aerodrome where the great machines stand silently in a dim line, ready to burst into life at the order to start.

The first of the big machines taxies acros the aerodrome, turns to face the wind, halts a little and then, gathering momentum every second, it rushes across the grass and climbs up into the night till it can no longer be seen, and its two wing-tip lights, like fiery eyes, alone show where it moves in the darkness. For several minutes its pulsing drone can be heard as it climbs in great circles over the aerodrome. Every eye is turned upwards watching the little lights. Suddenly a ball of red appears in the sky, drops slowly, and ies out. It is a signal describing the weather conditions up aloft, and conveying an order to those on the ground.

One by one the huge machines glide out into the middle of the field, thunder across the grass, and rise, soaring to the stars. For a time, their murmur fills the skies, but soon a heavy silence descends on the aerodrome, while in the East beyond the German lines, can be seen the pale fingers of the groping searchlights.

What The Packers Do For You

Not very many years ago in the history of the world, the man that lived in America had to hunt for his food, or go without.

Now he sits down at a table and decides what he wants to eat; or his wife calls up the market and has it sent home for him. And what he gets is incomparably better.

Everyone of us has some part in the vast human machine, called society, that makes all this convenience possible.

The packer's part is to prepare meat and get it to every part of the country sweet and fresh—to obtain it from the stock raiser, to dress it, cool it, ship it many miles in special refrigerator cars, keep it cool at distributing points, and get it into the consumer's hands—your hands—through retailers, all within about two weeks.

For this service—so perfect and effective that you are scarcely aware that anything is being done for you—you pay the packers an average profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound above actual cost on every pound of meat you eat.

Grand Concert—The Boston Symphony Sextette.

An excellent attendance again marked the events of Chautauqua Tuesday. The morning audiences are increasing in size and the high standard for afternoon gatherings is being maintained. The Boston Symphony sextette furnished the musical features of the day and there were two splendid addresses by Lorado Taft, well known sulptor. B. H. Piepmeier presented the important good roads question in the absence of S. E. Bradt, state superintendent of highways, who was unable to be present. At the morning hour Prof. Gilbert gave another interesting nature talk and Mrs. Alice Houston was heard by a large company of women in discussion of meats and substitutes. Altogether it was a very satisfactory day's program.

Talk on Birds.

Prof. Gilbert gave a very interesting talk on wood warblers. He had a lot of colored plates portraying the little beauties and told of the various kinds that make life pleasant and happy.

He spoke of the different families of thrushes; the oriole; the linnets; the high singers; the red birds, and many other kinds. He said most of them, with the exception of four varieties, are migratory nesting farther north and staying with us only a part of the season but doing an immense amount of good by destroying many noxious insects.

Speaking of the pest of English sparrows he said a novel plan may be adopted to scare them away from a given locality. One way was to place a common spring wire mouse trap on a pole, let one get caught and flutter a while and don't be in a hurry to take it down. Many other sparrows will assemble about it and finally fly away and not return for a long time.

Another way was to prepare wheat with strychnine according to a formula supplied by the national agricultural department and when the sparrows eat it they will perform a lot of queer gyrations which will attract and finally repel their mates for a good while. Their nests should be sought and destroyed as far as possible. They have been known to eat cabbage worms but rarely so.

gave a fine talk on meat substitutes. Truly the ladies who fail to hear her are losing a great deal. Her talk examplified with practical demonstrations which were interesting and valuable.

Good Roads Bond Issue.

In his introductory remarks Mr. Piepmeier referred to a visit he made to this city several years ago in the interest of good roads and said he was glad to come back and talk on the same subject. He said in part:

"I want to inform you about the $60,000,000 road bond issue which we will vote upon Nov. 5. Four or five years ago we established thru the legislature what we call the Tice road law, creating state aid roads. We now have short stretches of hard road in every county in the state but the limited funds have made it impossible to build a connected system of such roads, and the state of Illinois ranks but twenty third in the lists of states on the road question. The last legislature saw the unsatisfactory condition, and realizing the income that was assured from automobile tax alone, devised a scheme whereby we might build a system of hard roads connecting every county seat and every town of 2,000 or more, and have the automobile tax money pay off the tax.

"The automobile tax this year was increased 50 per cent over last year. For example, a Ford automobile which paid $4 last year, this year paid $6 and in 1920 the Ford owner will pay $8 and then $8 from that time on. The higher powered cars pay in proportion, varying from $8 to $25 per car. But even with this increase the Illinois tax is considerably lower than the average automobile tax of other states of the union, in some esatern states the tax running up as high as $200 for the high powered cars and trucks.

Income From Autos.

"What will be the income from the automobiles in this state? Last year the secretary of state registered 340,000 automobiles in this state and to date has registered 373,00, so you can begin to conceive of the increase in automobiles we are having, regardless of the war conditions. We now have one automobile to every sixteen people. Iowa has one car to eight people and Nebraska and Kansas the same. Whether we have any more cars or not, with the cars we have today and with the increase in the automobile tax, with the cars we have today and with the increases in the automobile tax, which you paid this year and which you will pay next year and every year thereafter, there wil be sufficient income to build the $60,000,000 bond issue roads, pay the interest and have money left in twenty years.

"Some say this is no time to vote for bonds on account of the war, but the legislature has requested us to vote on this proposition November 5, one way or the other. The governor of Illinois has said that it would be a catastrophe if the bond issue does not carry, and that if it does, that not one dollar of the bonds will be sold or roads built until we win the war. Should we disregard our opportunity of getting a system like this that we can build as soon as the war is over? We can put the soldiers to work when they come back from the battlefront. Men who have gone from office and store have gone into active field work and are now leading vigorous outdoor lives. Will these boys be satisfied to come back and practice law or act as clerks? Many of them will want active outdoor work and there will be our opportunity. The government can put all these thousands upon thousands of soldiers to work to building roads and other kinds of public work as soon as the war is over.

Main Roads First.

"Should the bond issue fail it is necessary for it to go back to the leginslature for some other action. Under the present plan central and southern Illinois have just as many roads as there are around Chicago, but this is hardly to be expected if it goes back to the legislature, for Chicago controls the legislature and that part of the state will probably get more roads than the central or southern part. The proposed system is the most equitable that has ever been laid out. We will build the main roads first and then with the money available in the various townships we can keep in better condition the roads that lead to the little towns and to the farms. Sixty five per cent of the population of Illinois lives adjacent to the roads laid out to be built by the proposed bond issue. Eighty six per cent of the population live within five miles of those roads. So you can conceive of the value it will be to Illinois to get some sort of a back bone system worked out.

"I do not need to argue the advantages of hard roads. It is just a question of the best way to get them. As before stated, Gov. Lowden has declared that no money will be spent for road building until after the war is won. It is the duty of everyone to consider this matter carefully and to vote in favor of the bond issue. I am sorry that the women cannot vote on this proposition. We hope before long they will be able to vote on similar questions, in fact, whenever men vote. But while the constitution makes it impossible for women to vote on November 5, they nevertheless can control a great many votes and it seems to me that this is a splendid opportunity for women to aid in building up their community—in putting Illinois first in roads as she now stands in agriculture, in wealth and in population.

Auto License Will Pay Bill.

"I know something of the road conditions of Illinois and I believe I am right in saying that the expenditure of $60,000,000 which will be paid exclusively by the automobile tax, will mean more for Illinois than any one thing we can do. The automobile man pays the bill. Does he kick? Yes, one or two do. But why should a man object to $4 or $5 increase in license when he will pay that for an hour's work in putting him out of a mud hole?

Government statistics show that there is a saving of some $18 to $20 in gasoline alone in driving over hard roads compared with the average earth road, 365 days a year. That alone with the 373,000 cars in Illinois, figuring that each car will travel about 4,000 miles, will bring a saving of $6,000,000 a year. The saving in wear of tires in driving over hard roads is another big item.

"Does the man who does not own a car object to the bond issue? Yes there are a few who do. But you can figure out that the average tax on automobiles, which is about $10 per car, with the 373,000 cars that we now have, will more than pay the $60,000,000 and interest in twenty years, so there is no direct tax upon the landowner. The automobile pays the bill. Then why should the man who owns no car object?

"Some people are going to fail to vote and that means a vote no, because the law says that we must have a majority of the vote cast at the election. Vote one way or the other, but vote for the proposition if you want to pull Illinois out of the mud."

Home Town Beauty.

Lorado Taft was introduced by Prof. Gilbert as the famous Illinois sculptor. Mr. Taft declared that he was so much interested in the road question that he would like to keep right on with that subject instead of dealing with the one announced, "Beauty in the Home Town." Only a few paragraphs from his excelent address are given.

"As the good roads enthusiasts hope to see the state stand higher in the matter of roads, so I hope to see it stand much higher in the matter of the beauty of its towns. If we can make our towns so beautiful that they are an inspiration to all who live in them, then we have done something worth while. I want to quote here the words of an old philosopher: For myself I am certain that the good of human life cannot be in the possesion of things which for one man to posess is for the rest to lose, but rather in the things which all can possess alike, and where one man's wealth promotes his neighbor's.' I feel that if I make a statue or have a pleasant home that I can share with others, it is then more valuable to me. I heard a public speaker declare some years ago that the time would come when public sentiment would not allow any man to have too much when ther are little children who have not enough. When I heard those words it struck me that a few years before they would have been taken for socialism or anarchism, but the speaker was merely stating that public sentiment was tending that way. We realize now more than ever befor that the body politic is made up of individuals and the well being of the whole is dependent upon that of the individuals which compose it.

Community Life Real Wealth.

"I heard Colonel Roosevelt's speech in Springfield Monday and to me one of his most striking utterances was this: 'Unless we make this country a good place for all of our children it will be a poor place for any of them.' Did you ever think how willing parents are to spend money for the education of their children and then stop off and do nothing to make the small community interesing to them? A speaker I heard in Philadelphia some time ago said, Not money, but the life which a community provides is its real wealth.' It does not matter how many millionaires you have in a community. If a man uses his wealth simply for his own pleasure, the money might as well be beneath the sod—and he too, for that matter, for all the good he is doing. It is only when money is used for the common good that it is of real value.

"It is not enough that Illinois should keep on, year after year, enriching itsself. The people must give some thought to the things of the spirit. Some say you cannot expect art galleries and club houses for the poor in the small towns. I ask, why not? We are one hundred years old. Is it not time for us to have some of these things? We must not live merely for ourselves. To make life really worth while there must be something to be handed down to the next generation. I am not an anarchist but I do believe that the time will come when the rich will begin to share more and more their blessings with the poor, and will rejoice in the doing of it.

"The great task for the people of the small community is to make their town so interesting that when the boys come back from the war with their enlarged horizon, that they will be willing and anxious to live there. The only salvation for the small community is to provide so much interest and inspiration for its young people that they will never feel the lack of something to do during their hours of leisure."

Evening Program.

An exceedingly interesting event not on the printed program was a community singing led by Rev. W. E. Collins, whose animated manner and fine voice thoroly aroused the vast audience and a splendid time was enjoyed singing familiar songs and some not so old. It was a fine addition to the already excellent bill.

The next number was also an addition, a four minute talk by A. C. Metcalf on the war. He said we all want to lick the kaiser and to do so must exert every possible force; keep all our industries going; preserve good feeling everywhere and work as a unit. When you see a man trying to carry capital against labor; who goes to Catholics and says they are discriminated against; who tells Protestants the same; who tells evil stories regarding the conditions about the army and evil habits of the soldiers; who throws suspicion on the Red Cross and kindred organizations; who talks against the government saying facts are withheld and the like be sure they are German lies.

The work of the Boston Symphony Sextette was superb and as a matter of course and, as was the case last year, they were not above playing some popular music which all could appreciate. They led out with the "Star Spangled Banner" and followed with a medley of southern songs, "Old Black Joe," "Suwanee River," "Listen to the Mocking Bird," "Dixie" and others. Their whole program was excellent and worthy of the superior musicians they are.

Then came Lorado Taft, the sculptor of whom Illinois and the whole country has reason to be proud. He spoke in an entertaining manner; had clay right on the stage and gave exhibitions of modeling and told in a pleasing, entertaining manner how statues are made. It was a fine effort by a master of the art.

Notes.

Fred Boston of Bloomington is visiting Miss Mary Clampit at tent No. 30.

Some good work is being done with the sprinkler and dust is well kept down.

The rail road crossing watchman has long hours, 9:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. and he is a faithful guardian of the people's safety tho sometimes a smart driver disregards the signals and forges across.

The Jojasovi girls had the pleasure and honor of having Private Peat guest at dinner Monday evening, they entertained Rev .and Mrs. W. E. Collins in a similar manner.

As far as known, the first accident took place yesterday morning, Robert Halsted had a wood alchol lamp and thought he would fill it turning the wick low but not extinquishing the blaze which was communicated to the alchohol in the can and spread over his hands and arms causing a painful burn tho it is thought that nothing serious will result.

Superintendent Schaefer and his assistants, Mr. McCarty on the water wagon and Mr. Ornellas on the grounds, are keeping things in fine shape much to the pleasure of all concerned and in general there is little complaint.

LORADO TAFT'S STORY.

At the close of his Chautauqua lecture last evening Lorado Taft told the following beautiful story.

In the mining town of Lens, France, lived an humble miner with his little family. He was industrious and devout and did his best. His wife was a regular Nanvy Hanks, with thoughts and aspirations far above her humble surroundings yet ever faithful to her home duties. But she loved art and dwelt in it and admired it all she could and took her children to the beautiful cathedral and showed them the stained glass windows, the statues and other works of art about the place. It was customary among these people to name their boys from the name of the saint in whose honor the day of their birth was observed but not so this woman. One son she called Michael Angelo; another Raphael and another Leonardo di Vinci.

As the boys grew older the family emigrated to America and Illinois and settled in Decatur and there the boys were put to work mining coal but Leonardo, or Leonard, as he was called for short, didn't forget the beautiful things of his native land and longed for them. One Sunday he was wandering about Decatur when he came across a studio belonging to a lady artist and he made her acquaintance and every Lord's day he would go there and drink in the beauties of the work he saw and let his soul revel in the realms he never expected to enter. Then, next morning he would go down into the coal mine and work six days faithfully.

One day I went to Decatur to deliver such a lecture as I am giving here when the lady artist sought an interview with me and told me of the wonderful French boy and wished so much that I might help him to the desire of his soul. I told her I would consider it and finally I bade him come to Chicago where I gave him work cleaning spittoons, sweeping and dusting while he studied during all his spare hours. The rare genius in him soon showed out and he went on in his studies and today he stands in the foremost ranks of American artists. I show you here one of his first efforts, this beautiful head of a child. It showed the rare genius of the boy: took several honors at art exhibitions and is much admired. One stormy day a lady visited the art institute in Chicago when no others were there and the guard saw her take that statue and fold it to her heart, it was so lifelike.

That boy is Leonard Crunelle who today has more orders than his teacher who is with me here but who will not be introduced to the audience as he is exceedingly modest but I congratulate the people of Jacksonville on the fact that he is the artist who will execute the soldiers' monument to be erected in your public square.

At the close of the lecture Mr. Crunelle was sought and enjoyed a hearty reception. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hitt of this city were especialy glad to see him as their son had married Mr. Crunelle's young sister.

LEAVES TOMORROW FOR ARMY SERVICE

Morrison Worthington, who is to leave tomorrow for Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., to enter the army service, as a draftsman, was yesterday offered induction into the ordnance department of the army. It was because he had given up hope of being called into the ordnance department that Mr. Worthington applied to the local board to fill the appointment at Madison Barracks. For more than a month past he had carried on an animated correspondence in the effort to secure admission to the ordnance department and had finally given up hope. As previously indicated, Mr. Worthington probably has the Morgan county record for endeavors to enlist in the army service. It was at the very beginning of the war while he was at Harvard that he sought admission to the aviation department in the officers training camp but failed to pass the examination.

In the selective draft test here in Morgan county he again failed because he was under weight. Subsequently he made efforts to gain entrance to the Canadian army and the regular army of the United States without success. It was then that he made application to the ordnance department. Certainly Mr. Worthington's patriotic spirit is quite worthy of the name he bears. In the service to which he has now been assigned he will be attached to the department of military aeronautics.

SCHOOL DAY ROMANCE RESULTS IN WEDDING

Lieutenant Keating Will Wed Miss Marguerite Butler this Morning —Groom Now Ranks as Senior Lieutenant in United States Navy—Bride is Prominent in Local Musical Circles.

Lieutenant Emmett Keating of the United States Navy and Miss Marguerite Butler of this city will be united in marriage this morning. The ceremony will be said at the Church of Our Savior. John M. Butler and Miss Helen Butler, brother and sister of the bride will be the attendants.

The marriage of Lieutenat Keating and Miss Butler is the cuimination of a courtship that began during their school days at Routt colege. When the groom entered Annapolis Naval school the date of the wedding was set after his graduation in June, 1917. Then came the war and the graduation of Lieutenant Keating's class in April of last year.

He immediately took up active service and was first with the battle ship fleet and later with the transport service. It was only upon his arrival from his last trip across that his vessel was laid up for repairs. This gave the first opportunity for the wedding since his entry into active service.

Mrs. Keating is the daughter of Mrs. P. J. Butler of 767 South Church street. She graduated from Routt college in the class of 1913. She early gave evidence of unusual musical talent, and after graduation at Routt college entered Illinois Conservatory of Music. She graduated from this institution in both voice and piano in 1917. Since then she has been a member of the Conservatory faculty.

Possessed of much charm of manner Mrs. Keating has endeared herself to a large circle of friends. She has given liberally of her talents in aiding all charitable work and has prominently identified herself with the musical and club life of the community.

Lieutenat Keating is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keating of Hardin avenue. He was born and reared in Jacksonville and graduated from Routt college in the class of 1912. During his college career he was a star member of the Routt basketball team and was popular with his fellow students.

Following his graduation from Routt college he received the appointment from this congressional district to the naval school at Annapolis. During his course there he received honors in class work and graduated with high honors in 1917.

Since entering upon active service Lieutenant Keating has received further honors and now ranks as senior lieutenant. He has served in the battle ship fleet and in transport work and is now anxious to see service on one of the destroyers. At the rate these are being constructed it is probable that his wish will be gratified.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Keating will leave some time today for New York City as the lieutenant only has a short furlough. Mrs. Keating probably will return to Jacksonville when her husband embarks for his next trip across.

Tho their many friends knew of their engagement the news of their marriage will no doubt come as a great surprise. However, the congratulations will be none the less hearty and they will carry with them sincere wishes for many years of wedded happiness.

ROODHOUSE BOY DIES FROM KICK OF HORSE

James McConathy Passed Away at Our Savior's Hospital—Was Kicked By Horse Monday Morning—Coroner Held Inquest.

Following the death of James McConathy of Roodhouse at Our Savior's Hospital Tuesday Coroner Rose empanelled a jury and held an inquest at Williamson and Cody's undertaking parlors where the body had been taken, Tuesday afternoon.

James McConathy was 14 years of age and was the son of M. A. McConathy, a farmer, residing one and one half miles northeast of Roodhouse. About 7 o'clock Monday morning he went into the barn to curry the horses.

Shortly after he entered his father heard a horse kick and then heard another sound that might hav been another kick or the boy falling. The father hurried to the barn and found the boy unconscious. He carried him to the house and called Dr. Edwards of Roodhouse.

Dr. Edwards found the boy unconcious and he was brought to Jacksonville and Dr. Norris called in consultation. Dr. Norris testified before the coroner's jury that the boy was unconcious when he saw him and appeared to be suffering from concussion of the brain. An operation was performed and a piece of bone elevated which was pressing on the brain.

Following the operation Dr. Norris said the patient's temperature ran up to 107 due to the pressure of the heart centers at the base of the brain. Dr. Norris gave as his opinion that death was due to fracture at the base of the skull.

The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts as given in the testimony. The jury was composed of T. H. Rapp, foreman; James M. Swales, Matt Minter, James Holt, W. H. Reaugh(an dRay A. Hartman, clerk.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JERRY COX

Large Assemblage Paid Honor to Memory of Well Known Citizen.

Funeral services in memory of the late Jerry Cox were held Tuesday afternoon from the family residence on Caldwell street, Because of the long residence of Mr. Cox in Jacksonville and Morgan county, it was one of the largest attended funeral services held here in years. The service was in charge of Rev. A. A. Todd, pastor of First Baptist church, where Mr. Cox for so long a period had been a faithful and active member. Mrs. H. C. Woltman sang, "Sometime We'll Understand," and "When They Ring Those Golden Bells for You and Me." with Mrs. Edgar Martin serving as accompanist.

Mayor Rodgers, Commissioners Martin, Vasconcellos and Widmayer, City Clerk R. L. Pyatt and James Stout were the honorary pall bearers, and the active bearers were Messrs. James Ellis, Jonas Lashmet, Austin King, A. A. Curry, J. W. Arnold and J. W. Jackson. Seldom has there been seen such a large display of beautiful flowers and these were in charge of Misses Lizzie and Anna Long, Clara Russell and Bernice Smith.

Burial was in Jacksonville cemetery.

Rev. Mr. Todd read appropriate and comforting passages of scripture and offered an earnest prayer before he began his brief remarks.

The minister's lesson for the afternoon was based upon the thought that all things work together for good to those who live righteously. The minister said: "At a time like this, at the hour of separation, no matter what previous years have held, there is always some anxiety. Nevertheless, we know that there is a promise in the scriptures that all things work together for the good of those who love the Lord. This inspired message brings comfort to the hearts of all of God's children. The promise cannot apply to all mankind, because there are so many who reject the Savior. So there is this special reward for those who accept Him and live earnestly and consistently.

"If a man really loves God, he will be active in good works. Our brother who has just gone from us was active in the home and church, in the affairs of the city and county, and in these latter days found pleasure in supporting the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other patriotic Christian efforts. In the language of the text, there is harmony, and as we find harmony in nature, so we find it in grace. The soul of our brother was atune to the will of God. He could ever be counted on to do his part in the work of the church and I know that he thought it a privilege to be known as a coworker with God. It is sometimes difficult for us to understand but but the afflictions and the sorrows of life are really for our good and bring development of heart and life.

"During the ten days' illness which preceded the death of Mr. Cox he was not able to leave any parting message, but I know from his life and from the belief which he held that could he today, he would say that all things work together for the good of those who love the Lord. It is hard, I say, to understand some of the sad things in life. If you pass thru a woolen mill and see the combing and the carding of the wool, how it is dipped into one dye and then another and if we observe the forming of the cloth into a certain pattern, then we realize something of the process thru which the raw materials have passed. So in the troubles of life we recognize that God has a pattern and a design and that the big plans of the Almighty are worked out in this life. At this hour it is a blessing to remember that the benign influences which Mr. Cox set in motion thru his life will continue altho he is no longer with us in the body. He is not dead, but sleepeth, and as he worked courageously and lived earnestly, as he loved his family and church, his city and his friends, he did not live in vain.

"Mr. Cox was a man of strong convictions and when once he was determined that he was in the right he kept on unswervingly in that course. So he lived well and for the betterment of mankind."
